

CEMASTCO S&P

since 1997.

Shipbrokers. Shipowners. Marine Surveyors. Marine Consultants.

Legal basis of the site and disclaimer

Website.

<https://cemastco.com>

Information.

Any textual, graphic content of the Site, including, but not limited to, texts, links, articles, announcements, photos and video materials, design elements, illustrations, scripts.

User.

Any capable individual who acts in his own interests or in the interests of other persons who access the Site through the Internet.

Site Administration.

Employees, administrators, authors, editors and moderators who are directly related to the work and content of the Site.

Information and its use.

The information is not a public offer (commercial offer) and is purely for informational purposes. Information may not be regarded by anyone as a direct guide to action, is not mandatory and may not have signs of authenticity and accuracy. The registered trademarks, brands and other names of organizations mentioned on the Site are the property of the persons in whose name they are registered. In cases where such a reference entails a violation of the rights and legitimate interests of the copyright holders, they will be immediately deleted after the appeal of the legal owners. All information posted on the Site is copyrighted and belongs to the Site unless otherwise explicitly or implied.

Copying of Information for the purpose of its further publication on the Internet is allowed only if a hyperlink to the Site is affixed. Use of fully or partially information in printed or periodic publications without specifying the source is prohibited. When the Information from the Site is fully posted, it is forbidden to change, modify or distort the Information. The information posted on the Site is obtained from open sources and is offered for ex-reference purposes only. If you are the copyright holder of the information posted on the Site violates your rights - immediately contact the Website Administration and your application will be considered as soon as possible.

Warranty and Disclaimer.

The Site Administration does not give any guarantees of the completeness, accuracy, timeliness, expediency, reliability, effectiveness of the use of Information. The Site Administration is not responsible for possible errors or inaccuracies in the Information. The Site Administration is not responsible for any type of damage (including, but not limited to, moral, material, physical) that the User has caused to himself or to third parties as a result of incorrect interpretation, application or other legitimate or illegal use of information, including consequences that have arisen or may have arisen due to errors, typos and inaccuracies in the Information. Any Information may be used by Users solely at their own risk. The use of the Information means that the User agrees to all the conditions in this text and accepts them unconditionally. Using the Information, the User refuses all possible claims and requirements for the Site Administration.