(Last updated: 17 November 2025)

This Disclaimer applies to the entire website cemastco.com and all its content.

1. Illustrative nature of all content

All photographs, vessel descriptions, technical specifications, drawings and any other materials published on this website are provided exclusively for illustration, demonstration and general market-overview purposes. They do not correspond to any real, existing or identifiable vessel, shipowner or actual sale offer.

- Images are systematically edited (mirrored, cropped, colour-corrected, anonymised, etc.) and all identifying features are removed or obscured (vessel names, IMO numbers, flags, funnel marks, logos, etc.).
- Technical particulars may be generic, approximate, rounded, averaged or partially fictionalised to represent typical class parameters rather than a specific unit.
- Any resemblance to actual vessels is purely coincidental and unintentional.

2. Copyright and intellectual property rights

Images may originate from publicly available sources and are used solely for non-commercial, illustrative purposes. If you are the copyright holder or lawful representative and believe any material infringes your rights, please contact us immediately at office@cemastco.com providing proof of ownership. The material will be removed or replaced without delay and without further correspondence.

3. No binding offer – limitation of liability

Nothing on this website constitutes a binding commercial offer, representation or guarantee of vessel availability. All content is provided "as is" without warranties of accuracy or completeness. The company bears no liability for any decisions or actions taken based on the published illustrative materials.
